

Aquatic Underworld Comes To Life

Who doesn't dream of swimming among dolphins and fish, of interacting with them, of diving into an underwater world and experiencing its endless depth and vastness?

Swimmers can achieve this through Aquatic Dreamworlds, simulated underwater landscapes for swimming pools created by world renowned Paul-Bertram Petereit, an interior designer and one of the most successful trompe l'oeil artists in Europe.

Shown for the first time at the recent Interbad trade show, Paul-Bertram Petereit perfectly imitates nature and integrates underwater landscapes into swimming pools through an innovative combination of painted illusion and projection of interactive and vivid films.

Whether coral reef communities, ship wrecks or blue lagoons – the illusions are deceptively realistic.
